BECAUSE THE FRENCH SENATE has blocked passage of a bill granting women the vote, French Suffragettes have declared war on anti-suffragist senators and active feminists will constitute themselves as a corps of detectives to follow the senators around day and night until their private lives have been opened to scrutiny. "We will nail their vices and weaknesses and expose them to the public," the women announce. It may work. Violent manifestations are out of date. The new plan is more subtle. Politicians worry more about their reputations now than they used to. But the plan to let a man lead a double life undisturbed if he votes for suffrage isn't the best argument in the world for suffrage.

MRS. ELIZABETH TOWNE, new thoughtist and first woman alderman in Holyoke, Mass., announces that she is a candidate for mayor. She is going to put "civic service in the saddle instead of private profits for the gang. She has a hunch that the time is ripe for the forces of righteousness to step forward. It will take more than "new thought" to put the gang "out of business, even in Holyoke, Mass. Few people who think hard can get very far in politics.

SIX THOUSAND CLEVELAND BOY SCOUTS are instructed to use their influence in stopping their elders from smoking cigarettes, particularly the women folk. That is very idealistic. The Boy Scouts have made a good impression on the country and are growing up into fine, clean young men. But if little boys are to be sent around to meddle with the private affairs of older people they will soon be told to mind their own business.

A NEW YORK NEWSPAPER features a headline from the London Daily Express which shouts its jubilation because Scotland Yard has solved every murder case in London in the past year. "Twelve months without an unsolved murder," says the headline in the London Paper. New York's police commissioner, who reads headlines, would be pleased to see something like that in New York papers. But the London police do not have to cope with a super-gang of crooks organized to supply liquor to 22,000 speakasies.

SCHOOLS OF COUNTY MAY LEAD STATE

With a school construction program totalling more than $3,000,000 Contra Costa county school officials who are busy totalling the exact figures for the school year ending June 30, may find that the construction program carried out will place this county at the head of the school circles of the nation. According to Superintendent of Schools, William H. Hamilton, many of the schools have outgrown their capacity, thus necessitating the extensive building program.

Heading the program in the county, Richmond has recently completed a new high school at a cost of $850,000, second to none in the eastbay district. Crockett has erected one of the most beautiful high schools in the state at a cost of $450,000. Pittsburg this year will move into a thoroughly modern plant erected at a cost of $225,000.

Martinez recently erected a $25,000 school devoted to kindergarten alone. El Cerrito has several new schools to take care of the steadily increasing number of students. San Pablo has completed an $80,000 plan. Pacheco is housed in a new grammar school building, as is Vine Hill. Brentwood high school is to receive a new addition and Antioch has erected a model gymnasium that will seat hundreds. San Ramon valley high school will also receive an addition.

One hundred and fifty more, doctors estimated, were still at Marshall hall, a resort 20 miles down the river, awaiting medical treatment. Six doctors and a squad of internes were rushed to the scene while arrangements were being made to bring them back to Washington by steamer.

About 700 children were in the party which was organized by the Central Union Mission to give the children relief from the intense heat today.

Some doctors believed the children were made ill by eating hard-boiled eggs but this had not been definitely established during the early hours when all were working frantically to save the lives of the little tots.

U. P. Special Correspondent
PALO ALTO, July 20.—(U.P.)—Herbert Hoover, republican nominee spent his first day at Palo Alto mourning the death of Mrs. Hoover's father, C. D. Henry, Monterey banker who died last Tuesday.

A public appeal was issued to citizens to enable his arrival here this morning to pass almost unnoticed. College students guarded the driveway of his Spanish villa atop San Juan hill throughout the day and only the nearest friends were admitted.

In the afternoon he went with his wife, his 21-year-old son Allan and immediate members of the family to the unostentatious Quaker funeral services held in Leeland Stanford church, in the center of the university campus.

This was the day set for the gala homecoming celebration in San Francisco and Palo Alto, but it was changed to a day of mourning. Only a few signs over the streets of Palo Alto reading "Welcome Home Hoover" indicated what had been scheduled.

Man To Serve Fifth Term In County Prison

MARINEZ, July 20.—"What are you in for this time?" It was "Rube" McNamara, deputy sheriff, speaking. "Canned heat, at least, that's what they told me when I woke." That was David E. Jenkins, 55, 139 Fifth street, Richmond, speaking.

David was making one of his periodic trips to the county jail. He had just arrived from Richmond to start serving a sentence of 30 days for drunkenness imposed by Police Judge C. A. McGill of Richmond.

ROADS BEING GUARDED FOR LONE BANDIT

Resources of the Richmond police force yesterday were thrown into the search for a lone bandit believed to be escaping south in a small coupe following the hold-up of a post-office and general store at Willow Creek and the killing of a deputy sheriff and the serious wounding of another.

All local officers on the night and day shifts, totalling nearly 20 men, have been instructed to keep a sharp lookout for the car. Orders to throw a barrier around the bay district were received yesterday from Sacramento. Police of Oakland, Berkeley and San Francisco received similar orders.

At the local station authorities stated the description furnished by Sacramento police described the man as being about 30 years old, dark complexion, driving a light coupe. There chief clue is the license number of the machine, although a thorough description of the car is lacking.

Police are of the belief that the bandit seeking an escape through this district is William Herder, who with John Bishop, killed in the gun battle in which Deputy Sheriff Carpenter was slain, and "Dutch Pete" Stroff, notorious safe cracker, held up the general store and postoffice in the robbery which precipitated the gun battle. Stroff, arrested near Eureka, Thursday, confessed to his part in the holdup and fight, but denied he fired the shot that killed the officer. Stroff's asserted confession, according to authorities at Eureka, contradicts the theory there were four in the bandit gang. The prisoner maintained there were only two others beside himself, Herder and Bishop, the dead bandit.

PEACE OR WAR?

We are hearing a great deal from the pacifists, professional and otherwise, in the United States about the horrors of war. Everyone agrees that war is horrible and nobody in America, we believe, wants another experience with it if it can be avoided. There is no war spirit in America. There never has been a militant spirit and into no great conflict in which we have been engaged have we entered until all reasonable means of continuing the peace had been exhausted.

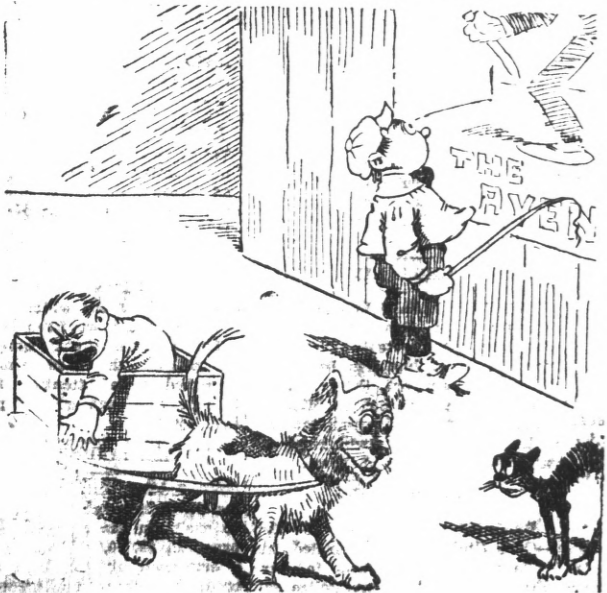

The pacifists and all other Americans are of course within their rights in denouncing war. The trouble is that the pacifist drive does not stop here, but goes on in an effort not only to increase the sentiment for peace, already overwhelming, but to induce the people to lay aside all weapons of defense, to adopt a policy of non-resistance, a policy which has always been fatal and which will never work until human nature has been changed to such a beatific condition that no rules against war will longer be necessary.

All Americans want peace, but most of them are practical enough to know that in order to assure peace, we must be prepared to defend ourselves against attack. The United States is now the richest nation in the world. Suppose, then we sink our navy, abolish our army organization and teach our youngsters it is wrong not only to want to fight, but even to want to take any military training or wear any uniform that smacks of soldiery. In a few years we would get into a decidedly lamblike condition, and when we have arrived at that state with all of our wealth and resources we would fall prey to the first designing nation which saw an opportunity to gain plunder by attacking Uncle Sam. And would any other nation come to our rescue? Not at all. The nation unprepared loses caste in the game of world politics.

We have made several gestures toward disarmament and what has been the result—only to forfeit for the United States the chance it had to secure the biggest and best navy in the world. Is there any immediate chance for disarmament? Ask the leaders in any European country and see what you learn. Of course they are all for reducing armament—so they will tell you—but there are so many complications in European policies at this time, that it would be not politic. And it wouldn't be politic either.

Europe has always had these complications, and there is no present prospect that they will be ended. If at any future time the League of Nations can succeed in bringing about a better spirit in Europe, all well and good. But as for Uncle Sam, if he hates war, and we all agree that he does, the best way to avoid it will be in the plan which will make us able to repel all invaders. We will all hope that the invaders will never come, but to destroy our facilities for meeting them would only serve as an invitation.

BEAUTY

By LAURA LANE

DEAR LAURA LANE,

I am the far from proud possessor of just about the worst set of teeth in the country. Sometimes it seems to me that I have spent the best part of my life in the dentist's chair, having teeth filled, pulled, cleaned, and (yes, I have some false ones!) put in. My mouth is beyond the stage of preventive treatment, but my baby daughter's isn't and I am determined that she shall have the pearly teeth that I missed. Is there anything you can suggest that I can do to preserve their beauty besides having her examined by a dentist at frequent intervals?—Mother.

You are a very wise mother to think of the health and appearance of your baby's teeth now because now is the time to prevent just as much trouble as you have had. No amount of dentistry can make up for neglect in early life.

Before baby is able to use a tooth brush (and she should be taught its use as soon as it is possible) clean her teeth after every feeding with a piece of gauze dipped in honey-sweetened water. Should be changed frequently to keep the teeth and gums thoroughly clean. After each meal at least once, rubbing and rinsing. If your child leads a healthy, outdoor life with plenty of direct sunlight, has a diet of properly balanced values, including fresh vegetables, fruits, milk and cod-liver oil, she will have a few dentist's bills when she grows up. As she grows older let her eat rough, chewy foods to strengthen and cleanse the teeth in nature's way.

The use of dental floss before she brushes her teeth will help to keep them free of food and germs which will tend to decay them.

ALMOST "FEINTING"
At the end of the eighth round the badly bruised boxer told his second that he could go no longer. The second objected. "But," pleaded the boxer, I can hardly see 'im."
"Never mind," said the second, "it 'im from memory."

Is that so? Why you didn't tell me you had five sisters.

GETTING GERTIE'S GARTER
Just about the time of the recent broadcast versions of "Faust," a man told this story again: himself:

He was one of a party just returned from Germany. At dinner he remarked to his wife: "I went to Goethe's home on the Sunday." And his wife replied hurriedly, "Who's Gertie?"

CHILDREN IN VENEZUELA

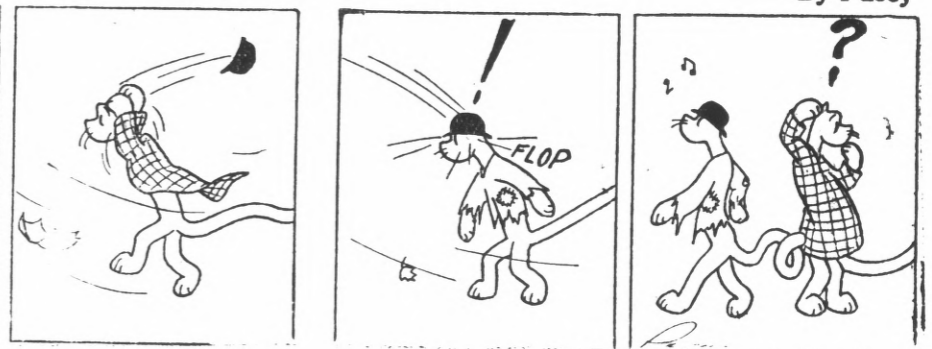

"Use your eyes, Tomaso, mio," said father. "Remember all that you see so that you can tell sister Tullita about La Guaira."

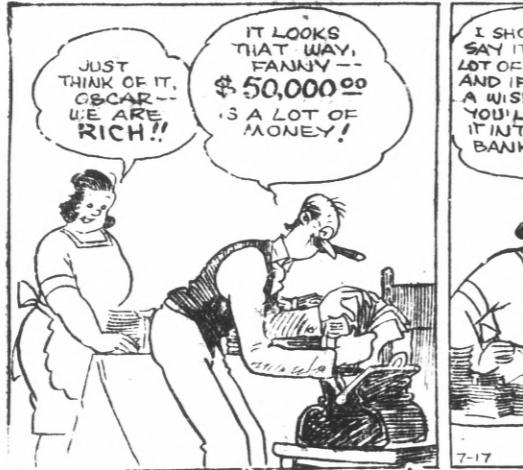

"I use the eyes! I use them so fast!" said Tomaso. And, to prove that he used his eyes "so fast," he rolled them until a little white girl on an American steamer at the dock thought he'd roll his eyes away like big, brown marbles!

And this happened one hot, hot morning. It happened in La Guaira, the chief port of Venezuela. Father was in La Guaira for business. Tomaso went with father for fun! When father said that Tomaso could go to La Guaira with him, little sister Tullita cried. She wanted to go also. "La Guaira is too hard a trip for little girls," said father. "Stay home in Caracas with the mother." Then father and Tomaso said "Goodbye!"

Urges Against Law Changing Wife's Status

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Confusion in nationality laws affecting marriage is so marked that Miss Emma Wold of Oregon and Washington, D. C., has just completed a compilation of the statutes of 73 countries.

The work was done in connection with the National Woman's Party work to bring about equality in the laws between men and women.

In commenting on the results of her survey, Miss Wold says: "Marriage has a decided effect upon nationality, particularly that of women."

"Ordinarily a person is British or French or American or almost any other nationality because he is born on the soil of that government or because he is born of parents subject to that government. But there has crept in the rule by which a woman follows the nationality of her husband, under which she is British with a British husband, Chinese with a Chinese husband, regardless of the place where she was born or the blood which she sprang."

Even after she has taken by her marriage the nationality of her husband, if he chooses to change it during the marriage, she automatically changes again—and without consideration of her real allegiance.

"In some instances the tables are turned and the wife instead of losing her own nationality when she marries a foreigner confers hers upon him, as in Brazil and under some circumstances in Japan."

For the foreign husband, to become a naturalized citizen of his wife's country. Even in one possession of the United States is the true—The Philippine Islands.

In the United States the nationality of a man is in no way affected by his marriage and since Sept. 22, 1922, when the Cable Act was passed, with certain exceptions, the wife stands on her own feet with respect to her citizenship. The same kind of law has been in force in several South American countries and is rapidly coming into effect in European countries, notably Belgium and France and Soviet Russia, and a less marked degree, in the Scandinavian countries.

maintains that the confusion concerning the citizenship of married women is due to the tying up of the fundamental right of nationality with marriage and it claims that the dignity of nationality, as well as convenience in the application of nationality laws, calls for the divorce of nationality laws and marriage. It holds that the nationality of individuals should not be affected by marriage.

Miss Wold's compilation is appearing as a government document.

STEEP RAILWAY IS NEEDED IN FILMING PLAY

Producer Wid Gunning, who went to Northern California with the Milton Sills company making "The Valley of the Giants" for First National Pictures now at the Richmond Theatre, found the steep railways in the world which there.

In seeking locations for the picture, Gunning traveled on foot over mountain ranges and through valleys of the Redwood country, visiting logging camps and working through the big groves for the most scenic spots.

A steep railway was needed for the spectacular wreck scene, when an entire train of huge logs was thrown over a cliff and into a river. There was no lack of steep railways in this section, Gunning discovered.

They branch out from almost every logging camp, running down steep hills where not even a long engine could travel. Cars loaded of logs are dropped down these spur lines by means of two-inch cables and the empty cars hauled up the same way.

A ride on these lines is a thrill never to be forgotten, and Gunning and his fellow players got much of them.

"The Valley of the Giants" is from Peter B. Kyne's famous story of the Big Tree country. Boris Kenyon plays opposite Sills and the cast of fifty includes Arthur Stone, Paul Hurst, Yola d'Avril, Charles Sellon, George Fawcett, Phil Brady and many others. Other film features include "King of the Jungle" and "Felix the Cat."

Tolstoy's Servant

The servant went to market to buy pears, of which his master was inordinately fond.

"Good fruit," said the master, "or a beating for you!"

There were delicious pears in the market, and the servant selected a dozen of the finest in appearance. But here entered a doubt: Were they equally good in flavor? Would they satisfy the palate as well as the eye? The more he considered the matter the more anxious he became. That beating if the fruit were not satisfactory!

Desperately he bit into one. It was good. But the others?

Recklessly he bit into a second. It also was good. But how could he be sure the merchant was not cheating on those that remained?

In a frenzy he snatched a bite from all in turn; and then in triumph brought the fruit to his master...

For years men have been complaining about poor shaves and poor blade service. The introduction of the new "VALET" blade a short time ago was greeted enthusiastically by men everywhere. It marked the dawn of a new shaving era.

The popularity of this outstanding achievement has been without parallel in the history of shaving. Here's a blade that stands up to its task. Made of the finest steel that can be obtained. Handled by expert cutters from start to finish. Treated and tempered by the secret "Valetite" process—applying all the skill and knowledge—all the experiences with shaving problems extending over a quarter of a century.

This new "VALET" blade can be readily identified. Cut through the blade is the name VALET. Its outstanding superiority is apparent the first time you shave with it. QUIRE EDGE GATE — The Cow Was Not Very Tired—And Refused to Be Seated

BY LOUIS RICHARD

JUNGLE PERILS DESCRIBED BY TULANE YOUTH

NEW ORLEANS, July 20.—(U.P.)—Harrowing experiences of three local explorers in the jungles of South Mexico and Guatemala among natives none too willing to work and with monkey meat and a kind of acorn for sustenance when food ran short, were related here a few days ago by Webster McBryde, 20-year-old son of Dr. John M. McBryde of Tulane University. Young McBryde returned ahead of his two companions, Dr. Frans Blum and Louis Bristow, also of Tulane, who with native hirelings and mules, made up the Mayan expedition of Tulane University's department of Middle American Research that left New Orleans several months ago for the tropics.

McBryde was separated from his fellows, who are still somewhere in the jungle. The youthful explorer, after suffering with malaria fever that ran up his temperature at times to 104, finally made his way to civilization and on to his home here for treatment. He announced he had "enough" of jungle explorations.

The party was separated on Lake Peten, in Guatemala, near Flores, McBryde said. The young explorer with several natives and some pack mules set out to find a trail that was thought to lead to some ancient ruins. Blum and Bristow were pursuing other trails.

TEMPERATURE 131 DEGREES. In crossing Lake Peten, McBryde said he noticed it was "rather hot" and looking at the thermometer he carried saw it registered 55 degrees. That's centigrade, and that means about 131 degrees Fahrenheit, he said.

McBryde told of the party spending two weeks searching for a single trail of Indians, hired to accompany the expedition, deserting their posts and of crossing and recrossing rivers by improvised rafts, in quest of trails and other traces of ancient races.

"We ran short of food, with the exception of coffee and tea," said McBryde. "We were compelled to live for a time on acorn (a kind of acorn) seed and monkey meat."

At one stage of the journey the explorers encountered some Southern Lacandons, the last survivors of a tribe and race almost extinct.

Seven 'Affairs' For Each Mate Is Declared As Average Quota

NEW YORK, July 20.—(U.P.)—The average married person, whether or not happily mated, has seven love affairs, according to returns gathered from 200 men and women.

Other conclusions from the survey follow:
Women are slightly more fickle than men.

Most of the attachments preceded that which finally leads them to the altar, although being wed does not deter a large minority from romancing outside of the home.

Those facts are presented in a report of an investigation into human relationships by the Bureau of Social Hygiene of New York City. The research work, pursued in a scientific spirit, covered four years. The report of the findings has been revealed for the first time in an article in the current Harper's by Dr. V. G. Hamilton and Kenneth MacGowan.

One hundred men accounted for 681 love affairs and 100 women for 677 but three of the latter said they had never loved any man. Twenty-nine of the 100 husbands let their affections stray from the family circle and 41 of the wives found solace in the arms of other men.

The two hundred men and women chosen for the research were almost all college-bred or of college grade, the report says. "They came from New York City or its environs. A third of the men were in professional life, a tenth were engineers, a little more than a quarter were in business. Half of the men had incomes under $5,000 a year."

Their ages ranged from 23 to 59. The majority were between 30 and 40 and had been married from five to fifteen years.

The subjects were considered representative of their class in any large city. "They are a widow's mine of facts got under carefully arranged scientific conditions, but a little is worth dropping in an empty box," the authors explain.

Each of the 200 men and women received cards on which were typewritten questions. There were more than 40 cards with nearly 400 questions. The examiners asked that the questions be talked out in a very free, informal manner. One of the cards invariably wore out sooner than the others. It was known as the "Love Affairs Card." The one for the women asked them to give a list of all the boys with whom they had been in love, either before or after their own marriage, and to give information about their own age, at the time of the love affair; whether the boy was older or younger; the color of his eyes and hair; whether he was short or tall, thin, plump or fat; if he resembled the girl's father or her brother in disposition and appearance, and the extent of their "spooning."

League Hopes To Cut Down Dope Traffic

GENEVA, July 20.—(U.P.)—A general world-wide tightening up of the illicit dope traffic is scheduled to take place when the League's new international opium and harmful drugs convention goes into effect on September 26th.

Although the convention was launched in 1925 provisions were made that it could only become effective when ratified by at least 10 states of which seven must be members of the League council including two permanent members.

To date the convention has been ratified or adhered to by nearly 30 states but it was only Canada's recent ratification that gave the necessary number of council members.

The principal new feature in the League convention consists of provisions for the creation of a central board of control which will have complete supervision of the international traffic in drugs.

While the board will have no other power than publicity, it will be in a position to show to the world just what countries are producing excessive quantities of harmful drugs and what disposition is being made of them.

Under the terms of the convention the board will consist of eight persons chosen purely because of their expert knowledge of the question and their independence. They are in no way to be the representatives of their governments.

The appointment of the board is left to the League council but provisions have also been made for the United States to join in the selection of the board if it so desires.

A strong movement already has developed to have an American member on the board.

The temperature reached 87 degrees early this afternoon and the humidity was recorded as 56.

The Missions evened their series with the Angels by winning 6 to 3. Four runs were scored by the Bells in the seventh and eighth innings.

Portland outdid the Oaks but lost, 3 to 1 and the series went 4-1 because it was Oakland's fourth straight win. The Oaks made two runs in the last of the sixth to break a tie.

SEVERAL PLAN DARING FEATS OVER NIAGARA

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 20.—A crop of death-defying attempts at navigating Niagara Falls is looked for this summer as a result of the success which crowned the attempt of Jean Lussier, of Springfield, Mass., who recently went over the cataract in a rubber ball.

The ease of which Lussier successfully completed his feat, and his almost complete lack of body injuries, has instilled into many a desire to attempt the stunt which only three persons have ever accomplished.

Not only is the desire for personal glory considered, but the commercial offers that are sure to follow, apparently have served to inspire a number of men and women to risk their lives in attempting to traverse the perilous upper rapids, crash against the jagged rocks at the foot of the Falls and survive the whirlpool in the lower river.

A Pittsburgh woman, whose name was not revealed, has written to police authorities at Niagara Falls asking for permission to make a barrel trip over the roaring cataract.

Authorities on both the American and Canadian sides have made it plain that they will attempt to thwart any attempt to go over the Falls. Not only has the police given permission, and all persons who went over did so only by being a match on the police boat starting from some remote corner of the upper rapids.

James Hardy, a case-hardened athlete from Toronto, has an idea that he can plunge into the lower rapids by walking across the Falls on a tight rope.

Hardy will not attempt the feat, he says, unless some commercial firm makes him an offer to do so.

A man and wife from Kansas, identity unknown, also have asked permission to try the feat some-

Picking the Referee
In picking his referee for the Tunney-Hennessy fight on July 26, the members of the New York state athletic commissions will undoubtedly bear in mind the fact that most of the squawks developed in heavyweight championship fights have generally centered about the actions of the third man in the ring.

At Toledo, Referee Ollie Pecord lost his head and allowed Dempsey to leave the ring when the bell was rung before the round ended.

At the Polo Grounds, Referee Johnny Gallagher allowed Dempsey to step over Firpo's body to get a shot at the Wild Bull before Firpo had completely gotten up from the floor.

At Chicago, Referee Dave Barry perpetrated the famous long count which will go down the pugilistic centuries.

At the Yankee Stadium, Referee Jack O'Sullivan failed to see a foul that ringside experts still aver disabled Sharkey.

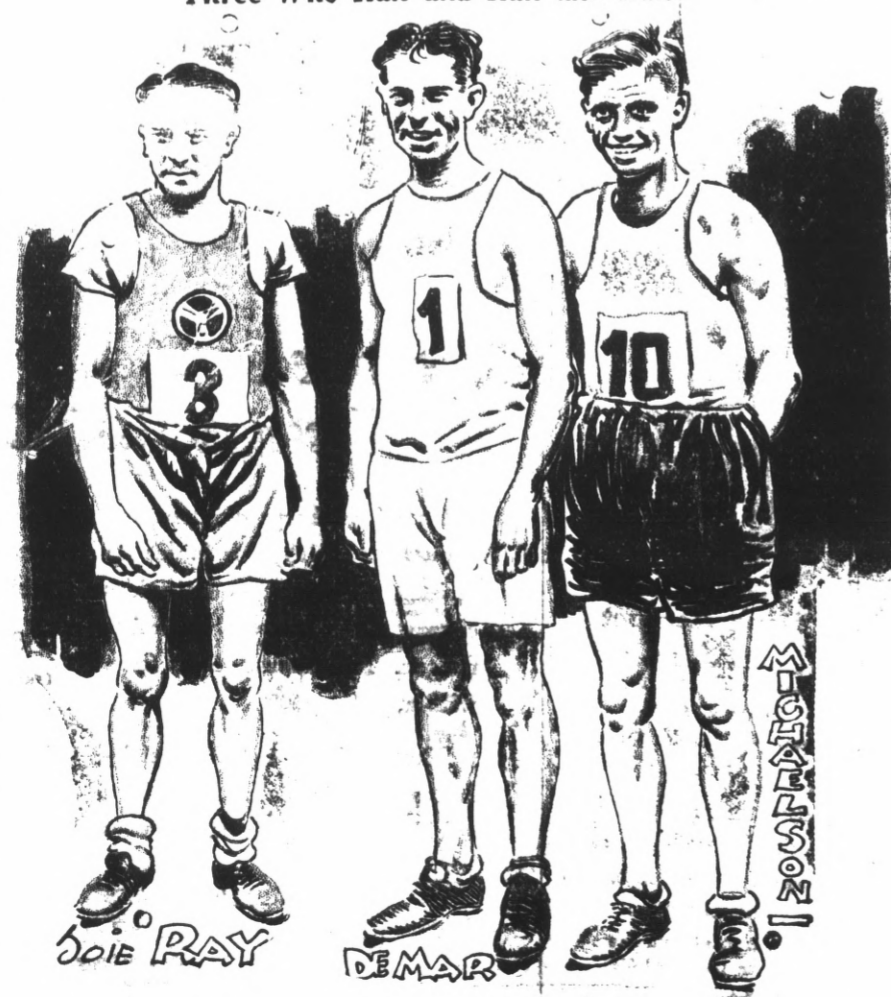

I say that Messrs. Farley, Mulligan and August, they plan to use a rubber ball, built on the style as the one used by Lussier, but which will have a compartment for two persons in this, strapped side by side, they hope to brave death.

And Lussier, who says he is not content in safely passing over once, will attempt the trick again, probably on Labor Day.

Lussier made his leap in a uniquely rubber ball, constructed with a steel frame and a covering of canvas, with 32 air holes. A weight was attached to the bottom to keep the sphere in an upright position. He was strapped in a sitting position when released in the upper rapids.

A man and wife from Kansas, identity unknown, also have asked permission to try the feat some-

Three Who Run and Run and Run

CLEAN SWEEP FOR U. S. IN TOURNEY SEEN

PAID, July 20.—(U.P.)—A clean sweep for the American team against the Italians in the Davis cup semi-finals seems certain.

With W. T. Tilden, captain of the American team, who was disqualified on the eve of the match for writing newspaper articles, was not missed today. Johnny Hennessey, a freckled face youth from Indianapolis, stepped into Tilden's shoes and filled them completely.

Hennessey, who was believed to be fighting for a lost cause, pulled the surprise of the year by defeating Baron Henry de Nazario, Italian ace, in straight sets, 6-4, 7-5, 6-2.

That put the American team in the lead, two matches to nothing. For prior to Hennessey's victory Francis Hunter defeated P. Gaslini in three easy sets, 6-1, 6-1, 6-0. At no time during the match was Gaslini able to extend Hunter.

Hennessey started slowly, losing the first game at love. He then won his service and settled down to brilliant tennis.

The first four games it became apparent to the crowded galleries that the American youth was going to defeat one of the most highly-touted stars on the continent.

No one was more surprised at Hennessey's game than De Murguio. The Italia was all confidence in the early sages as he shot over his slashing service and sent the ball scudding past Hennessey. Fatigue helped defeat De Murguio. At the end of the first set he was exhausted and thereafter was no match for his younger opponent.

Tilden received an ovation when he entered Roland Garros stadium to watch the matches. He was forced to rise and bow several times before the gallery cheering.

Tilden had nothing but praise for his former team-mates and predicted they would win all five matches with the Italians.

On Saturday Hennessey and George Lott will meet De Murguio and Gaslini in the doubles match, and Sunday Hunter will play De Murguio and Hennessey will meet Gaslini.

away clean in the breaks. He handled the recent Godfrey-Risko fight, in excellent fashion.

In contrast to the Slattery-Loughran affair, this Godfrey-Risko fight was a mauling battle, that required plenty of work on the part of the third man in the ring. Magnolia split them out all through the ten rounds, handling the huge Godfrey and the 190 pound Risko as easily as if they were a couple of middleweights.

His work has been uniformly good. Go through the fights he has refereed and you will find that they have seldom been marred by squawks.

He had the Risko-Paulino, Sharkey-Mahoney, Wills-Sharkey, Slattery-Risko, Lonski-Latzo, Robert Scott, Stribling-Loughran and the McTigue-Loughran fights.

So far as I recall, only two complaints have been filed against him.

After the Wills-Sharkey fight, Harry Wills protested that Magnolia had prevented him from fighting his fight by constantly breaking him out of clinches.

After the Lonski-Latzo fight, Jimmy Johnston, manager of Latzo declared that Magnolia should have warned Lonski more promptly to keep his punches up. Johnston, in fact, made his objections personally to Magnolia in the ring but the referee chased him back to his corner.

Player Fractures

Skull In Ball Game

LOS ANGELES, July 20.—(U.P.)—Running to catch a fly, Tony Borja, outfielder for the Hollywood Stars, crashed into a fence today and received a fractured skull.

Earlier in the day the management of the Stars had announced the promising player had been insured for $25,000.

Borja was injured during the sixth inning of a game with the Seals.

The seriousness of the injury was not made known until tonight when he was examined.

Borja's home was in Sacramento.

JOE LIMAS IS KNOCKED OUT BY ADRIANSON

With visions of a bucket of blood encounter as the main eventers throw everything but the reds at each other in a fourth round at El Cerrito last night, fight patrons appeared in an evening of action, but the second round had hardly started before they were wending their way out of the pavilion.

It took Joe Adrian of San Francisco just about one minute of the second round to find a vulnerable spot on the chin of Joe Limas, pride of El Cerrito, and the home town favorite went down for the full count, while fans rubbed their eyes and tried to figure out what had happened.

What happened was that Adrian's good right fist collided with Limas' jaw, the knockout blow traveling short and fast, so fast that many spectators failed to see the blow struck.

A small crowd was on hand to witness only a fair card.

Trench King of Fresno administered a knockout potion to George Lopez of San Francisco in the seventh round of scheduled eight round fight.

Manuel Vasquez, Richmond, and Johnny Lawson of Oakland, battled four rounds to a draw.

Pancho Villa of Oakland, namesake of the late champion, took a decision over Pastor Manolo of San Francisco at the end of four frames.

In the curtain raiser, Archie Lazar, San Francisco, was awarded a decision over Lawrence Guilfoe of El Cerrito.

Adams quit baseball last year and returned to Bethany, where he owns considerable real estate.

There was no work at all today, Heeney devoting himself entirely to recreation. He got up at 4:30 a. m. and went for a walk with Jimmy Hennessey, his trainer, and later for an automobile ride. Then at noon, he went on a tour of the Charles Gaston mill, the sportsman, and a party for a pleasure trip in Gaston's yacht.

Heeney has worked himself into the peak of condition and the layoff really did him good.

"Heeney will enter the ring for Tunney in as good shape as he has been for any fight in this country," Hennessey said.

Heeney has been highly irritable the last few days, and Hennessey believes that is an indication of good physical condition. The New Zealander ordinarily is an easy-going fellow.

No one was ever easier to talk to than Heeney and he will discuss any angle of the approaching contest, with newspapermen. One even had the nerve to tell him how to whip Tunney. He listened, but said nothing. Outsiders who persist in talking to him or shaking hands with him before his workout, give the challenger the most grief.

"After my workout I don't mind talking to anyone," Heeney said. "But I don't like to be bothered on my way over to the camp from my cottage."

Heeney hasn't any idea about how he is going to fight Tunney.

"I'm just going in there to kick him," Tom said. "I'm going to try him every way. I'm going after him from the first bell, but if he starts belting me badly, I may change my style and make him come to me."

HEENEY EASES TRAINING FOR RIDE ON YACHT

FAIR HAVEN, N. J., July 20.—(U.P.)—Tom Heeney forgot about the heat and grind of training for the heavyweight title bout with Gene Tunney today as he sailed over the blue waters of the Atlantic ocean just off the Jersey coast in a trim and boat. The challenge has not lost any sleep over this fight, but the ocean jaunt put him in high spirits and eager to plunge into the final three days of training Saturday.

Heeney will do his last boxing Monday and will take only light exercises Tuesday and Wednesday. He probably will wait until the morning of the fight to leave for New York, going by train.

There was no work at all today, Heeney devoting himself entirely to recreation. He got up at 4:30 a. m. and went for a walk with Jimmy Hennessey, his trainer, and later for an automobile ride. Then at noon, he went on a tour of the Charles Gaston mill, the sportsman, and a party for a pleasure trip in Gaston's yacht.

GIRL DIES AS LOVER SCORNS SUICIDE VOW

NEW YORK, July 20. (U.P.)—The mystery of reincarnation and a young girl's belief in a better life after death were involved tonight in the attempt of New York police authorities to explain the apparent suicide of Miss Virginia Drew, 24, whose body was recovered from the North river and identified today by her father.

Foremost among police activities tonight was a search for Maxwell Borenheim, a New York novelist of some distinction, who was known to have taken an interest in Miss Drew and to have given her promise of assistance in her struggle for literary attention. Borenheim, it was learned soon after his name was brought into the case, had been absent from his Forty-third street apartment since early Tuesday, when he left, carrying two suitcases and a typewriter.

The possibility of a suicide pact, with the girl fulfilling her end of the vow and the novelist backing down from his end, was considered seriously by the police, who believed Borenheim would be found either in New York or in some nearby city.

Seance Conductors Fail To Receive Bandit Warning

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20. (U.P.)—Seated in a darkened apartment here, five persons strained to hear voices from the spirit world. Instead they heard this gruff command: "Stick 'em up boys and girls!" The light flashed on and the spirit seekers were confronted by two live goldup men.

Police reported the seance was conducted by Mrs. P. Lindsay and Mrs. LaVern Butler. Mrs. Butler lost two diamond rings and Mrs. Lindsey $50.

Gilbert Bennett and his wife were the spiritual customers. The Bennetts parted with two diamond rings and $162, while Russell's contribution was $20.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless. It works so easily every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

TOURIST HORDE TAKES CONTROL OF BOULEVARDS

By UNITED PRESS
PARIS, July 20.—There is no mistaking them as they swing up and down the boulevards with out a hat, rain or shine, swagger canes with enormous handles, baggy trousers, heavily plastered hair. They are the American tourists of the younger set. They are arriving by the thousands and filling up the most expensive cafes and restaurants.

Their elders are just as conspicuous but in a different way. They sit on the sunny cafe terraces where the French customer and his wife or best girl are having their morning appetizers and demand that luncheon be served there. In vain the waiter tells by shrugs and signs that it isn't done. That the terrace is exclusively for drinkers, that the eating place is inside. The reasonable ones among the visitors compromise on a sandwich and a glass of beer. The others demand that Paris is not what it is cracked up to be.

No longer is there a definite trend of tourists to Montmartre resorts after the theatre. The tourists who have been here before know better now. They have heard of other places, especially on the other side of the river. In Montparnasse, which has practically grabbed all the night trade, which once flowed up the famous hill.

Says Atlantic Flight Safest In Amphibians

BERLIN, July 20. (U.P.)—Amphibious airplanes are the logical type of machine for transoceanic flying, according to Otto Merkel, director of civil aviation, in a speech delivered here recently. Merkel, who is also director of the Luftwaffe, added that although the amphibious plane was the ultimate objective, seaplanes were the only type of machine suitable for long distance over-water flying at the present moment. The amphibious plane has not yet reached a sufficiently high stage of development, he declared.

Merkel was describing the Luftwaffe's air program, which is reliably understood to be the government's policy as well. The Luftwaffe has determined, he announced, to collaborate with foreign aviation circles in an effort to bring transatlantic flying within the range of practical commercial operations. After an exhaustive study of the numerous possible routes across the Atlantic, company officials have decided that the Cape Verde-Brazil hop offers the greatest advantages as a field for the first commercial experiment.

The flight from Ireland to Newfoundland is judged climatically inadvisable since a year-round service would be impossible and even summer flying is, at the present stage of development, uncertain. It was even felt that a route via Iceland and Greenland would be better than the hop to Newfoundland, since it offered a much shorter overseas jump.

Merkel recalled to his hearers that the Condor Syndicate, with which the Luftwaffe organization is affiliated, is already operating a service from Pernambuco to Montevideo.

"It is only necessary to think this service with a line from Europe, through Spain to the Cape Verde Islands and so across to northern Brazil," explained Merkel.

HAVANA HOSTS TO VETS

HALF CENTURY ROMANCE HAS HAPPY ENDING

ESSEX, Ia., July 20. (U.P.)—Our evening, 50 years ago, Marcus Kneeland called on Carrie Gay. It was not unusual for Marcus to call on Carrie, but this night he lingered longer than usual, lingering until the family had retired.

Then Marcus popped the question. Carrie was not surprised, as Marcus had been a tentative to her for some time, but Carrie told him there was "another." Marcus shortly left Lucas county. He went across the state into Crawford county where he bought a farm. Almost from the start Marcus prospered. The question he put to Carrie Gay was put to another with a more favorable answer and as the years passed, Marcus forgot his first love.

Carrie Gay stayed in Lucas county. One night J. S. Young called on her, much as Marcus had done. Carrie said "yes" to Young, however.

The Youngs decided to go west. They settled in the Yakima valley, in Washington, where Young prospered as a fruit grower. Carrie by this time, too, had forgotten about Marcus Kneeland.

A few years ago Mrs. Kneeland died. Soon after the widow was driving through Essex when he noticed a sign:

"W. D. Gay, Jeweler."

Marcus stopped his car and went in.

"You don't happen to be a brother of Carrie Gay, do you," Marcus asked.

"Yes," Carrie is my sister," the jeweler told him.

From Gay Kneeland learned that Carrie was a widow, who divided her residence between Los Angeles and Seattle. He asked where she could be reached by letter.

Marcus Kneeland and his wife are spending their honeymoon in Alaska. They plan to make their home in Washington.

Ruling Of Court Bans "Captive"

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20. (U.P.)—An order which was considered practically a permanent injunction banning further showing in this city of "The Captive" alleged obscene play, was issued here today by Superior Judge W. Johnson.

A case filed in federal court by attorney for Horace Linderight, New York publisher, to prevent police from interfering with the show was dismissed by Federal Judge A. F. St. Sure, after the superior court ruling.

In banning further showing of the play, Judge Johnson ruled that "the play is permeated with an odor of abnormality" and that "it is likely to exert a pernicious influence on immature minds." Members of the cast and Ben Giroux, manager of the company, are now awaiting trial on charges of presenting an obscene play.

MURDERER OF OBREGON WILL FACE HEARING

MEXICO CITY, July 20. (U.P.)—Jose De Leon Toral, who shot president elect Obregon in the back five times, will be tried by the police investigation of the murder has ended, it was learned authoritatively tonight. It is usual in such cases in Mexico for the military authorities to try the assassin.

The second district court, meanwhile, granted a temporary "amparo" which enjoined the war office or the police department from proceeding against the prisoner for 72 hours. The action is equivalent to a habeas corpus. The petition was signed by Jose Mendez, unidentified.

Additional arrests were made today, it was learned officially, and the police are continuing an inquiry to disclose the assassin's religious connections.

Chief of Police Rios Zenteno, although known as an ardent adherent of Obregon, is conducting the examination of Toral with a methodical, calm thoroughness. He issued a statement blaming the Catholic Church for the assassination.

"Police headquarters now is in a position to make public the facts that responsibility for the crime rests with the Catholic clergy," his statement said.

"The general inspection of police, now under my charge, is about to include the investigation and we will make known the results in every detail."

Previously Zenteno ordered the young assassin brought before a number of newspapermen to show that he did not receive much rough treatment.

Friends of Obregon revealed today that he had foreseen the possibility of being shot from behind. Just a year ago, July 17, 1927, the general was speaking at a banquet in El Paradero, state of Jalisco, when he told his followers:

"Our enemies are unable to fight us face to face, either politically or with arms. They will endeavor to strike us in the back."

Despatches from Guadalajara say Toral formerly was a stenographer for a chemical firm there and had been regarded then as a religious fanatic. One of the priests exiled by the government is said to be his relative.
